October Town Council Notes

By Jerry Bodlander

On October 10, 2011 the Council took up a variety of issues, most of which were for discussion purposes.

The Glen Echo Post Office

First, there was a discussion of the future of the Post Office in Glen Echo. With Post Office closings imminent throughout the country, the Council is aware that this facility could face cutbacks or closure. We are “probably on the chopping block,” said Mayor Debbie Beers. Inquiries to postal employees have yielded no information. Rental income for the facility could be affected if a closure occurs. Last year, the rent was renegotiated in an effort to retain the tenant at its Town Hall location.

The Council noted that the Post Office appeared to be closed for several days in early October and none of the Councilmembers knew why this occurred.

Speaking to a current problem, resident Raya Bodnarchuk described a run-in with a postal driver who backed his truck “as closed as possible to my fence.” It occurred when a car was parked near the post office driveway, making it difficult for the driver to make the turn. Ms. Bodnarchuk said the driver didn’t seem to care that he came very close to the fence and was rude when she voiced her concerns to him. She has had many complaints about both visitors and postal employees who have damaged her property which is directly across the street from the driveway entrance for the Post Office.

Glen Echo Baptist Church Property

Councilmembers said they are interested in giving town residents a chance to meet with the potential buyer of the Glen Echo Baptist Church properties prior to a final exchange or sale of the respective properties. The Annex is reportedly for sale with several interested buyers and the main church property has been transferred recently to the National Community Church (NCC). The Echo reported last month that plans for future use of the facility had not yet been formulated. The Lead Pastor for NCC, Mark Batterson, attended last month’s council meeting along with Tom Meeks, Deacon of the Baptist Church. Councilmember Nancy Long plans to try to set up a meeting with Mr. Batterson. Mayor Debbie Beers noted that there is no requirement for him to meet with residents.

Oxford Road

The council plans to consult with attorney Norman Knopf before deciding whether to get involved in an additional effort to monitor traffic at the intersection of University and Oxford Avenues. Willem Polak wants to set up a remote system that would enable him to videotape cars as they approach the stop sign, and record how many stop and how many don’t. There are no plans to record license plates or do any kind of enforcement. Polak’s request is that the videotaped information be used to show County officials and others the extent of the problem at that intersection. Mayor Beers called it a generous offer, saying the videotape would help illustrate the problem, while Councilmember Steve Matney voiced concern about giving a private citizen the right to perform this service on behalf of the town.

Currently, the Town pays off-duty police officers to issue warnings or citations and any revenue accrues to the County. There is no way to distinguish how many warnings there are versus the number of citations each month. The cost for policing services is approximately $500 a month. Each month, the officers coordinate with the Town Clerk on hours to be served. In late September and early October, for instance, police served a total of 13 hours spaced out on four different days, and they issued 32 citations/warnings. While most police services are provided on weekends, there are sometimes changes to the scheduled police presence, depending on Park visitor activity.

It should be noted that some residents on Oxford Road do not see traffic enforcement as a major problem on Oxford Road, although there is general agreement that many cars do not come to a full stop.

at the intersection. Traffic on the road has increased significantly and is created primarily by visitors to the Park. Some residents have previously stated that a separate entrance into the Park from MacArthur Boulevard is the ultimate solution to resolve current and future traffic issues that affect the Town.

Town Hall Elevator

The council approved spending more than $12,000 to repair the elevator at town hall. While the elevator is partially functional, there is a problem with the door on the ground floor. Bids for the work have previously been examined by the Council.

Mayor Beers said there haven’t been any major problems with the elevator since it was installed in the late 1990s to make the town hall ADA-compliant and that while it is a “considerable amount of money, we cannot have the elevator not operating.” The Town has already put money in the budget to make the repairs.

Donation to the Town

Jim Beaubien has donated a framed map of the Potomac River at Great Falls to the Town. Council member Nancy Long said the map shows the work on the Washington Aqueduct as done by the Corps of Engineers.

She called the map “a fine addition” to the town collection and the Council plans to write a note of thanks to Mr. Beaubien.

Former Echo Editor Lauded

Mayor Debbie Beers expressed the Town’s appreciation to Carlotta Anderson for her more than 30 years of service as editor of The Echo. Earlier, the Mayor presented Ms. Anderson with a glass bowl that had a commemorative plaque with it. The handcrafted bowl had been exhibited at a show at the Art Glass Center in Glen Echo Park. Ms. Anderson never missed an edition of the Echo in all the time she served as editor.

Sukkah In Glen Echo

By Gabriela Helf

The Echo noticed an unusual structure in a neighbor’s yard and asked Gabriela Helf to provide some information about the structure and the custom. We love stories and hearing about family traditions that enrich our neighborhood. While we are all familiar with Christmas and Chanukah, this is a custom less known.

For the second year in a row, my family built a Sukkah in honor of the Jewish holiday Sukkot. Sukkot is a holiday that celebrates the harvest and commemorates the time the Jews wandered in the desert. A sukkah is a hut that is not fully covered on top. It has three sides, and technically you are supposed to eat and sleep in it for eight days. You also decorate it with plastic fruit and pictures. Two prayers are recited in the sukkah and are accompanied by the shaking of the lulav and etrog. The lulav comes from the branches of a date tree and you shake the lulav with two branches from willow trees (aravot) and two myrtle branches (hadasim). The etrog is a citron; it looks like a giant lemon and smells very beautiful. I like Sukkot because I like eating with my family under the stars. We eat by the light of candles and strings of Christmas and Halloween lights. I also like the weather during the holiday (except for this year when it rained much of Sukkot). Now on to Halloween!

HANDYMAN
WHO TO CALL WHEN DE-CLUTTERING

Our neighbor, Bonnie Whyte offered things at the Yard Sale but still had more. She has compiled a list of charities that collect donations and suggests that you contact them quickly to schedule pickups before the end of the year. The following information was compiled for us by Bonnie.

Several clever websites offer an online scheduling site for a variety of charities, including Lupus, NCC and VVA. If you don’t care who picks up your stuff, they will schedule the next available truck coming to Glen Echo. www.gooddonor.org/ or www.donationtown.org/

CHECK THE DONATION GUIDELINES OF EACH GROUP. Some take books, clothing, furniture, household goods and some do not. Some are picky and some are not. Several have thrift shops. Several groups wholesale their collections to other thrift stores or sell to fabric recyclers.

Glen Echo Park Report

Polly Angelicus reported the following information at the Town Council Meeting in October. The American Red Cross, NPS, and GEPPAC will be co-sponsoring an American Red Cross "Media Drive" on Friday, December 9, from 11am to 6pm in the Spanish Ballroom Annex. A Media Drive is larger than a regular blood drive in that the ARC recruits local sports stars to increase donor turn out. The ARC hopes to have several retired Redskins players at this Media Drive. Traffic may be heavy due to the event. Additional information will be provided next month.

NPS interpretive staff were recently nominated for three different regional interpretive teamwork awards including one for the new "Clara Barton Trail," which is the series of waysides that go along the perimeter of the large parking lot on Oxford Rd; the Oral History Project.

Study Results on River Safety
GW Memorial Parkway recently conducted a Potomac River Gorge river safety study to pinpoint when the most accidents occur in the Gorge and see what could be done to reduce these accidents. Data from 1972--2011 was analyzed. Most of the info confirmed what has been suspected. Here is a brief summary of primary points shared: Most accidents/fatalities occur in the warmer months (April--August); The demographics show that most victims are males, ages 15-34. Drowning occurs most frequently when river levels are moderate: Most people avoid the river when levels are high; they can grasp branches or rocks if they fall or wade in when levels are low. Moderate water levels are deceiving as they often hide stronger currents deep below the surface.

The busiest visitation days are, in order: Sundays, Mondays (Monday holidays drove up the numbers), and Saturdays. The fewest drowning and accidents occurred on Mondays, due to increased staffing on holiday weekends. This information has been shared with C&O Canal and the US Park Police to improve safety and staffing along the river.

Peabody Conservatory Students at Redeemer Church
An organ concert will be performed by students from Baltimore’s famed Peabody Conservatory of Music on Sunday, 20 November, at 5:00 p.m. followed by a reception. Donations welcome.
