Town Financials
The budget hearing has been scheduled for April 1 at 7 PM in the Town Hall. Suggestions regarding budgeting for next year should ideally be made before that date. Ms. Ventura reported that the Town has received about $13,000 less than expected from the state in income taxes. She is following up with the County. (Reminder as you file your taxes, be sure to indicate your town name when asked, so that Glen Echo gets its portion.) Council Member Stiglitz asked why overall we are so under budget at this point in the year. Ms. Ventura explained that some contracts have been renegotiated at lower prices and that some funds, like for street repairs, were never used.

The Town’s highest expenses of late have been snow removal and trash services. When it was reported that the cost of the trash services may be about to go up a bit and that a new contract will soon be signed, it sparked a discussion about whether the Town actually needs twice-a-week trash pick-up. No one present at the meeting felt that they personally needed more than once-a-week trash removal (still maintaining the separate once-a-week recycling and yard waste pick-up). But a big change like this would require Town notice and resident feedback. Ms. Ventura said that she would ask our new service provider, Goode Companies, about the rate for once-a-week trash pick-up.

CALL TO ACTION:
Trash Pick-Up
Would once-a-week trash pick-up be enough for your household? Please email Council Members or townhall@glenecho.org with your thoughts.

The new on-call engineer Joe Toomey has submitted his first bill to the tune of $900. It is expected this will go down in future months as the construction of Vassar Circle gets underway. Hours were racked up with preliminary meetings, assessments of the plans, and discussions with the Mayor. Site manager Wayne Fowler has yet to submit a bill, but the Mayor and Ms. Ventura have already asked him to cut back on site visits at this point.

Council Member Costello asked if people were happy with the road brining and salting this year. The Mayor said he and Ms. Ventura would report on this after the season is officially over and they assess. The Town was happy with the leaf pick-up services performed by Hughes Landscaping, so a three-year contract has been signed.

Building Permits
A permit was issued to Pepco to move two telephone poles within Vassar Circle. The controversial addition on the back of 7315 University Avenue has been walked back to once again being a back porch. The work has been inspected and approved by Mr. Fowler. The new owners of 30 Wellesley Circle were given a permit for a new fence on the rear and side of the yard.

The Yale Sledding Hill
After consulting with the Town lawyer and the Local...
Government Insurance Trust, the Mayor had a proposal to keep the Yale sledding hill operational. He said that the Town could form a committee that would be in charge of coning and roping off the hill when the snows come, as well as any shoveling needed for the folks on lower Yale. The lawyer’s main concern is not that people could injure themselves on the hill (though a Sled at Your Own Risk sign was proposed), but that an uninformed driver could turn onto the street and into a pack of sledding kids on an unplowed road. Council Member Long felt that even discussing the issue was making the Town complicit and liable. The Mayor said we’d never be free from exposure, but must try to limit it as much as we can in order to keep the beloved tradition going. With only Ms. Long disagreeing, all the Council Members decided to try to recruit for a Sledding Committee.

Odd and Ends
An official Founders’ Day celebration will be on April 14 from 2 to 5, rain or shine, at or around the Town Hall. Harvard Avenue will be blocked to cars. This is the first recent celebration of Glen Echo’s founding (115 years ago) brought to us by the Livable Town Committee. The members thought that the Town has social events most seasons, but not spring. They hope residents will come out and help make the day—full of games like cornhole and capture the flag, a giant sheet cake, and all your friends and neighbors—a big success.

Finally, a call to people in Town, especially former Council Members: Do you have any Town historical documents (or boxes of them!) hiding out in your attic or garage? Now is the time to bring them to Town Hall, so that our hired archivist can go through them.

Town Expenses
In February, the Town paid $10,657 to Rolling Acres Landscaping (snow removal), $6,267 to Goode Companies (two months of trash pick-up), and $4,679 to Bolt Legal. —Emily Parsons

Vines fulfill specific needs and provide surprising beauty by growing vertically. They will grow up on fences, trellises, or tree trunks, along walls or other structures, or even spill over slopes. They bring unexpected beauty in unexpected places with their colorful flowers, fruit, and foliage. Many are beloved by birds and other pollinators. Here are some of my favorite vines that will come back year after year.

If you want to stick with native plants, I highly recommend two beautiful vines in particular. I especially love the coral honeysuckle vine (Lonicera sempervirens), which has several assets. It is not invasive, blooms all summer, and it will beckon hummingbirds to its sweet nectar, as well as goldfinch and robins, which will feast on its fruit. The reddish-orange colored tubular flowers have a mild, sweet fragrance, and these plants are continuous bloomers. This honeysuckle will need to grow on a fence or a trellis as it can reach 10 to 15 feet. Locate your coral honeysuckle vine in a strategic location where you can enjoy watching the hummingbirds that visit. You must find a location with full sun and add some compost when planting it. It will bloom on both old and new wood, so you will need to prune it back for shaping in late fall. My favorite cultivar is ‘Major Wheeler’ because it flowers profusely from spring through fall. Two other honeysuckles I recommend are ‘John Clayton’ which has gold-colored flowers and ‘Blanche Sandman’ which has pink flowers.

Carolina jessamine (Gelsemium sempervirens) is incredibly beautiful with its sweetly scented canary-yellow trumpet flowers in early spring. The plant is actually lovely year-round because of the glossy narrow dark green leaves—it is generally evergreen depending on the winter. The plant will often reach 20 feet unless it is cut back. Plant in a location with full sun and a good rich, moist soil. Deer do not eat it, and the hummingbirds, butterflies, and other pollinators will be frequent visitors. Please note that the plant is poisonous if ingested by humans. Carolina jessamine is the state flower of South Carolina. The cultivar known as ‘Margarita’ has larger flowers and tends to be a bit hardier.
For a shade-loving vine, try Moonlight hydrangea vine (Schizophragma hydrangeoides ‘Moonlight’), which comes from Japan. It is a plant for the patient gardener as it will take 2 to 3 years to begin vigorous growth and 5 to 7 years to produce flowers. Eventually it will grow into a thick woody root climber, and if planted in a tall space, will grow 10 to 15 feet tall. The white lace cap hydrangea-like flowers are graceful and elegant against a backdrop of silvery green leaves with deep green veining. The leaves are graceful and elegant. If you have seen a Moonlight hydrangea vine at its peak, it is absolutely breathtaking.

Clematis is an enormous group of lovely climbing, herbaceous plants that is so large and complex that it deserves a great deal of written space and explanation. Since now is the time to order and plant them, I recommend one of my favorites and suggest you visit the following nursery web site for ordering and learning about types of clematis and their requirements: www.brushwoodnursery.com

Brushwood Nursery, located in Kennett Square, Pennsylvania, is a nursery that specializes in clematis, and I have been pleased with their plant quality and selections. Among my favorites is Clematis ‘Niobe,’ with its large, velvety, garnet red flowers, that grows up to 5 to 6 feet across. It will appear in late spring and summer. The abundant flowers have lovely yellow centers in the middle of its star-shaped flowers. Plants will bloom on old wood from the previous season and look best grown along a fence, up a trellis, or through and around other plants. Hummingbirds love the flowers of this vigorous clematis.

There is another grouping of excellent vines that are annuals, therefore, only lasting one season. I will cover these vines in a future issue. Vines will bring welcome surprises to your garden whether growing on a fence, wall, or trellis. If you walk around Glen Echo, take notice of some of the vines that are growing happily and healthfully on trellises and walls. —Holly Shimizu

IN YOUR BACKYARD

The three most asked questions we hear are:

1. How can I stop woodpeckers from pecking on my house? First, check whether the woodpeckers are actually making nest holes or if they’re looking for bugs, which is the bigger problem. Have someone inspect the site where the pecking takes place. If it’s bugs, you may need a professional to spray or plug the hole. If the birds are trying to nest, covering their efforts with screen or siding or shingles may deter them, or placing a nest box nearby may be more attractive than your house.

   Note: A recent theory has it that woodpeckers may be “hearing/sensing” electrical fields or sounds from the house system, similar to those projected by insects. No known proof of this idea exists but it’s intriguing nonetheless.

2. How do I keep hawks from attacking my songbirds? As part of the natural world, hawks must eat too and small birds are a normal part of their diet. It can be hard to witness a hawk attack, but it also is a thrilling exhibition by one of Mother Nature’s most adept creatures. You can’t keep them away, but if your hawk is persistent, you can stop filling your feeders for a while so songbirds will forage elsewhere. Another strategy is to place your feeders near bushes (8 feet or so to deter squirrels too) where they can quickly take cover. When the hawks can’t find a meal in your yard, they will leave to find their prey elsewhere. Note: The most common “feeder hawks” are the Sharp-shinned and Cooper’s Hawk.

3. Is there a way to keep ants from my oriole and hummingbird nectar feeders? The best way is to put a physical barrier between the ants and your feeder (photo at right). Add water to stop the ants from getting to the feeder itself. —The Wild Bird Centers

My husband and I moved to Glen Echo in January of 1978. Nancy Long had already been here for approximately 50 years at that time. Although I met her early on, I didn’t really get to know her until I first ran for and was elected to the Glen Echo Town Council in 1981. I quickly learned that Nancy was something of a local heroine in the conservation community. She had almost single-handedly led the effort to save the Carousel in the Park and to keep it in Glen Echo. She was also instrumental in an earlier effort to prevent high-rise apartment buildings from being built on the land that is now Glen Echo Park. Instead, in 1971, the National Park Service acquired the land in a swap with the Park’s private owners. As a result, it became the artist colony that we see today. Since approximately 1980, Nancy has organized and curated the Labor Day Art show that has become an annual feature of the Washington, DC, community’s cultural landscape.

Nancy’s conservation interests also extend to the preservation of the historic C&O Canal, which was slated during the 1950s to be paved as an extension of the Whitehurst Freeway. The following is excerpted from the October 17, 2000, issue of the Congressional Record that was placed there by Rep. Constance Morella in honor of Nancy’s 72nd birthday: “In 1975, Ms. Long was selected by then Congressman Gilbert Gude as one of 25 individuals to travel the entire length of the C&O Canal to call attention to the Canal’s importance and need for the preservation and conservation of its resources. … Nancy Long has walked the 184 mile length of the Canal four times, the latest trek occurring in the spring of 2000.”

In addition to being the longest serving member of the Glen Echo Town Council, Nancy has served on the Boards of the Potomac Valley League, the Montgomery County Committee of the Maryland Historical Trust, the Potomac River Basin Consortium and she is a former (and first) chairman of the C&O Canal National Historic Park Advisory Commission to which she was appointed by the Secretary of the Interior. Nancy began the practice of holding Commission meetings at different locations along the Canal in order to familiarize members with the entire Canal and to encourage local participation in the resolution of issues relating to the Canal.

As a Member of the Glen Echo Town Council (to which she was first elected in 1969), Nancy has served as the Town’s liaison to Glen Echo Park and the National Park Service. She also undertook the responsibility of overseeing the use of the Town Hall, establishing rules for Town residents and nonresidents alike. Nancy has a strong belief that the Town Hall should always be available first for the use of residents, many of whom did not have houses large enough to host even small social events. While this has changed over the years as houses have been enlarged and renovated, the Town Hall continues to be an amenity that can be used by Town residents for a minimal fee.

On a personal note, Nancy has served as a guide and a mentor to me since I joined the Town Council in 1981. When, as Mayor, it was necessary to meet with members of the County Council, Congressional delegation, or other governmental agencies, I always wanted Nancy by my side. She knew everyone and had a firm grasp of the history behind every issue. I will miss her when she steps down, but I know that her retirement from the Council will not signal her retirement from the public life of the Town or the larger Glen Echo community. I hope that Nancy’s voice will continue to be heard. —Debbie Beers

There have been rumors of a Town-organized Minnehaha Creek clean-up day, but why wait for something official, says one group of enviro-minded residents. Alexis Feringa helmed a team including Elka Deitsch, George Hambrecht, Mona Kishore, and Vanessa Sax and her two daughters Chloe, 8, and Emma, 4, that spent an hour cleaning up trash from the Park and creek one March morning. They collected four full bags of trash as well as what appears to be some sort of traffic barrier.

In the last issue, we ran a photo of the Baltzley brothers, early developers of this area, with a piece about the upcoming Founder’s Day party. Here’s a correction: Founder John Garrett was a 22-year old Glen Echo resident and lawyer in 1904 when he filed an successful application with the state of Maryland to incorporate Glen Echo. The Town’s charter was adopted on April 4, 1904. Garrett was also elected the new Town’s first mayor. Come and toast his vision on April 14 from 2 to 5 PM at Town Hall. There will be a cornhole tournament, Glen Echo Jeopardy, capture the flag, sidewalk chalk art, a Connect 4 tournament, as well as cake and lemonade. BYOB and bring a dessert to share if you’d like.

Resident Gloria Levin has been representing the Town at the Conduit Road Fire Board monthly meetings for the past two years. In March, she was elected secretary.

You can bring as many plants/seeds as you like, and take

OUR TOWN PARK

The Park’s beautiful older buildings are due for a series of updates. Roofs seem to be the theme! Last year the roof was replaced on the Spanish Ballroom, although you may not have noticed it. This past month the former First Aid Building received a new tile roof. And this summer our historic Dentzel Carousel will also get a new roof, followed by an upgraded fire suppression system and repairs to the Band Organ Room. These projects are funded by a combination of grants from the National Park Service, State of Maryland, and Montgomery County. The Carousel will be undergoing these needed repairs for several months starting in July. (The roof is to be replaced.)

Carousel will be closed from July 2019 through the following spring.)

So please come out to the Park on Saturday, April 27, for Carousel Day, when the carousel opens for the 2019 season. This festival is one of our largest family events! The Glen Echo Park Partnership will present a day of FREE activities throughout the Park (11 AM to 4 PM), including live music and other performances, face painting, and, of course, carousel rides!

On May 18, the Partnership will host its annual Gala in the Park. This year’s theme is “Inspiring New Memories.” The Gala is a fundraiser bringing in needed operating support and special funding for scholarships for students. This year’s honoree is U.S. Senator Chris Van Hollen who has been a major advocate for the Park over many years, particularly recently helping to develop a new agreement between the National Park Service and Montgomery County.

whatever you wish: this is an un-curated free exchange. If possible, mark your plants with their names and sun/partial-sun/shade preferences. Holly Shimizu and Susan Grigsby can help with identification. On Friday, May 3, we will put out the table (after the trash pickup!) with extra pots/containers and markers if you need them. If you don’t have any plants to exchange, you’re still welcome to come after 1 PM and take whatever is still available. This is a great way to add interest to our Glen Echo yards and gardens!

Election Notice
This is the last call for candidates for Town Council.

The deadline for submitting your intent to run to Jan M. Shaut, Supervisor, Board of Elections, 6004 Harvard Avenue, Glen Echo, MD 20812, is April 16. Candidates must be registered Glen Echo voters who have resided in the Town at least one year prior to the election and be at least 25 years of age. They are not required to be U.S. citizens. There are two open seats, both for four-year terms. Absentee ballots will be provided to those requesting them, in writing, prior to the election, likewise through the Supervisor of the Board of Elections. The age to vote is 18.

The Echo would like to offer space in the May issue for statements from any candidates. The deadline for those statements to be delivered to TheEchoEditor@gmail.com (or in writing to 6001 Bryn Mawr Avenue) is April 20. Candidates can write up to 300 words and should include a headshot. If you are planning on running, please let The Echo know as soon as possible!

Finally, and most importantly, the election will be held on Monday, May 6, from 5 to 9 PM, at Town Hall. See you there! —EMILY PARSONS
